No Objection to Name on Ballots: Eisenhower

About Town And Country

MAIL: With such a popular subject as popular numbers, the subject of our last column, it was almost inevitable that there would be response.

I have before me right now a letter signed "J. R." which takes up another side of the popular song argument. Marilyn Gelsosky, high school student, in a school paper stated that she believed generally that too many popular songs were too depressing in themes to be good for adolescents. She produced songs to prove her contention.

But today's mail brings another side to the picture. The letter, and not critical of Marilyn, reads as follows:

"T. T.: This time is not to take issue with Marilyn Gelsosky's well-written, thoughtful research on popular songs yesterday, because her thesis, as far as it went, is eminently correct. But what about the other side of the picture?"

"What about the happy songs?" "Marilyn said that 'many of our popular songs bear the complaints of burdened down, helpless creatures who have no reason to go on living.' 'Sixteen Tons' is indeed a near-classic example. 'Old Man River' is an American immortal. "But what about the happy songs?"

"What's to keep the poor paranoiac from crooning 'Oh, What a Beautiful Morning' or 'It's a Great Day'?"

"What's to keep the lovelorn little lass from hopelessly chanting the promise of 'The Man I Love' . . . or the entrancing entreaties of 'Embraceable You?' The unhappy soul who has just 'had his first lesson in learnin' the blues' can perk up a bit by listening to 'Get Happy'."

"One other thing: Didja notice that the happy songs mentioned above are in the category that the musician calls 'standards'? In other words, they are popular tunes that have withstood the handicap of best-selling popularity to become familiar classics. And for every sad, unhappy, or morbid 'standard' tune you can name, I'll name you ten happy or romantic songs that are equally familiar to everyone who can carry a tune, and some who can't."

"The sad songs don't last, because people just don't like to be too sad too much of the time. Sad incidents and unhappy occasions are much easier forgotten, while happy times remain happy memories a lot longer."

"A prediction: Next year 'Sixteen Tons' will be virtually forgotten . . . but folks will still be able to sing, hum, or fiddle tunes like 'Tenderly' and 'September Song,' and 'Margie,' and 'Whispering,' and leave us not forget the delicate, haunting refrain of the 'Rock-and-Roll Waltz.'"

"Then there's always Spike Jones. 'Nuff said."

Teacher, Purple Heart War II Vet, Is Beaten by Two Teen-Age Toughs

CHICAGO (AP)—The "blackboard jungle" came to life in a Chicago school corridor Wednesday when two teen-agers pounced on a teacher and beat him into unconsciousness.

Their victim was Anthony Grott, 32, a Purple Heart World War II veteran who found a new kind of warfare outside his eighth grade classroom.

He was in Henrotin Hospital today, a gash in his head held together by 14 stitches. Doctors planned to take X-rays to determine the full extent of his injuries. The attack on Grott followed the pattern of "The Blackboard Jungle," a brutally realistic novel and motion picture about the warfare between teachers and pupils at a New York City school.

Grott knew that two ex-students, aged 16 and 17, had been hanging around the yard of the Schiller

President Says Doesn't Mean He Will Run Again

News Conference Draws Crowd of More Than 280 Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has no objection to his name being entered in presidential primaries. But he emphasized that this did not mean he would run again.

He also told a jam-packed news conference—his first in Washington since Aug. 4—that "my future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

Mr. Eisenhower was subjected to intense questioning about politics although he tried to head it off with a prepared statement about the primaries. He said he had not reached even a tentative decision on seeking re-election. He added, however, that he was busy consulting trusted friends and associates on the matter.

Mr. Eisenhower's first big news conference since his heart attack Sept. 24 drew a near record crowd of more than 280 reporters.

No Final Decision
He appeared to be in good spirits, and laughed heartily several times. He showed some residual evidence of a light sun-tan he picked up recently in Florida.

The President's chief political commentator of the day was in the form of a telegram to Harry E. Jackson, deputy secretary of state of New Hampshire, where Mr. Eisenhower's name has been filed for the presidential preference primary.

"I do not feel that I should interpose any objection to such entry," the President said in his telegram. He added, however, that he wanted it clear that "lack of objection cannot be construed as any final decision on my part relative to a candidacy to a second term in office I now hold."

The President, reading slowly from the telegram, continued: "It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored to an excellent state in which the doctors believed it to be in mid-September."

At the same time my doctors report to me that the progress I am making toward a reasonable level of strength is normal and satisfactory. My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue. My reasons for

Area Methodist Ministers Return From Two-Weeks' Seminar in Mexico

Fifteen Methodist ministers of the Harrisburg district of the Southern Illinois conference, under the leadership of District Superintendent Maurice Winn, have returned from a two-weeks' seminar in Mexico. The group left Harrisburg on New Year's Day and traveled nearly 5,000 miles, penetrating Mexico via the Pan-American Highway as far south as Puebla.

Visited were Methodist Mission work in Monterrey, Saltillo, General Teran and Reynosa in the north, and in the south, Pachuca, Mexico City, the village of San Pedro Xalastoc, San Felipe Teotihuacan and Puebla.

At Puebla they were honored guests at the opening session of the Central Annual Conference on Jan. 10. They also visited such tourist attractions as the ruins of the great pyramids of San Juan Teotihuacan, north of Mexico City, the Shrine of Guadalupe, the Cathedral in Mexico City and the Floating Gardens of Xochimilco.

The group was guided through the major part of its itinerary by Bishop Wesley Matzigkeit, a member of the faculty of the Union Theological Seminary in Mexico City.

In an interview with the resident Bishop of Mexico, Roberto Zapata, the visiting ministers were given a "Bishop's Eye View" of the Methodist church in Mexico. The Methodist and Presbyterian Communities have the largest organized Protestant work in the nation. The Bishop pointed out to the group that in the Methodist Church in Mexico there are 144 pastoral appointments in the two (Frontier and Central) annual conferences, and 450 preaching places. There are 64 ordained ministers as well as 136 other full or part time salaried workers. In the decade between 1943 and 1953, the membership of the Methodist church was doubled in number.

The visitors attended three worship services on the only Sunday they were in Mexico. Three of the ministers occupied pulpits that day. Rev. Robert Simpson preached at San Pedro and Rev. Maurice Winn at the Aztec church in the morning with Rev. Ross Smith at the Balderos church in the evening. Pedro De Koster, a Christian businessman of Mexico City, Bishop Zapata and Rev. Matzigkeit served as interpreters in these services.

Ministers comprising the group in addition to Rev. Winn were: Rev. Eugene Black, Brookport; Rev. Clair Clark, Crossville; Rev. A. B. Clodfelder, Eldorado; Rev. Raymond Clodfelder, Albion; Rev. Ellis Dugger, Carterville; Rev. Robert Edwards, Galatia; Rev. Marion Farmer, Rosiclare; Rev. Gerald Gulley, Mt. Vernon; Rev. H. Hilton Longberry, Fairfield; Rev. James Owens, Grayville; Rev. Robert Simpson, Benton; Rev. Ross Smith, Marion; and Rev. William Warner, Johnston City.

The group snapped over 1200 pictures during the seminar. At Harrisburg on February 3 a representative set of slides which will be shown to church groups will be selected.

The purpose of the Seminar was to increase interest in the World Service or Missionary Emphasis of the Methodist church by providing opportunity for some of its leaders to see first-hand the great needs and problems of the Mission fields. The participating ministers are in enthusiastic agreement that the Seminar has accomplished its purpose, Rev. Winn reported.

Issue Three- State Alarm for Escaped Killer

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP)—Leslie Irvin, a condemned killer accused of six "Chinese execution style" slayings in two states, vanished from the Gibson county jail today during a blinding snowstorm. Sheriff Earl Hollen said Irvin last was seen in his cell about 9 p. m. He was discovered missing at 7 a. m.

A three-state alarm was sounded in Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky. Irvin, 31, was convicted on a first-degree murder charge in December and sentenced to die in the electric chair at Indiana State Prison next June. He was tried in the gun death of W. Wesley Kerr, Evansville filling station attendant.

Hollen said Irvin undoubtedly "had some outside help." He said two locked doors had been opened but neither lock was broken.

Other prisoners said they did not know Irvin had escaped. Another inmate in the same cell with Irvin did not join the escape, although his way to freedom was easy.

Irvin was dubbed the "Chinese execution style" killer because all six persons he was accused of slaying were shot in the back of the head while kneeling with hands tied behind their backs.

Irvin escaped on the last day for filing for a new trial. His attorney, James Lopp of Evansville, said Wednesday a motion would be filed today.

Harriman to Keep Name Out Of Primaries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman announced Wednesday night he will not allow his name to be entered in any presidential nominating primaries without his consent.

It was the first statement by the New York governor on whether he would test his voter popularity with avowed presidential Democratic candidates Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Harriman, who admitted he is the "favorite son" of New York's 98-vote key delegation, again said he was not "an active candidate" for the Democratic nomination.

He predicted that the Democrats will recapture the White House this November against any Republican candidates, including President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The governor's announced refusal to enter any primaries was interpreted by some observers as an apparent campaign strategy to stay on the sidelines until Democratic Party leaders and voters test the popularity of Stevenson and Kefauver.

Slows Traffic, Closes Some Nearby Schools

Farmers Benefited; Fire Conditions in Fields Eliminated

The Big Snow came last night, depositing itself six inches deep on Harrisburg and surrounding area.

One side of the picture showed the snow slowing traffic, creating hazardous conditions which stalled motor vehicles, and closing some nearby schools.

The other side showed that the deep white cover was fine for the farmers, that it eliminated the fire hazard in fields and forests, and created a beautiful winter wonderland.

Snow started falling lightly at mid-afternoon yesterday and around five o'clock began to stick. It descended into the early morning hours.

Wreckers were busy throughout the night and this morning, reports from garages and service stations revealed. There were no wrecks reported, because the conditions held driving down to minimum speeds, but there were many vehicles stalled.

Wreckers Kept Busy

State highway snow ploughs worked during the night to keep the state highways open but vehicles moved at a 30 miles per hour pace for the most part.

In spite of the slow-up many cars went off onto shoulders and had to be pulled back on. There were two reported cases of cars running down embankments. Rural roads had their toll, with numerous trail-blazers driving off the road and getting stalled.

In town, too, the wreckers were kept busy getting stalled cars moving. The streets were really slippery.

The Ellis Trucking Co. reported that this morning its trucks were running several hours late. The trucks, it was reported, were coming in later on the Memphis-Harrisburg run than on the run from Indianapolis to the terminal here.

At the Union Bus depot it was reported that buses would be about an hour late.

Some Schools Out

The snow did not prevent the mines in the area from working but it halted operations at some schools. Both the Equality high school and grade schools, and Neal school in Saline county were not in session.

At Carrier Mills, neither the high school or grade school buses ran today but there was school. Semester exams at the high school were postponed for one day, however.

At Harrisburg high school, where semester exams are being given today, classes were held up until a late bus arrived.

Uptown in Harrisburg, there were plenty of parking places because of the condition, so getting out of one was a bigger problem than trying to find a spot to park. I. B. Kimmel, Saline county farm adviser, said this morning that the snow most certainly helped the wheat, that it should grow well under the snow.

Halts Fire Hazards

He said it also should help fall seedlings, grasses and winter oats if they haven't been damaged too much already by the drought.

He also stated that it was fortunate that there was not a layer of frozen ground, as the snow now will seep into the top soil and not run off.

"A lot of rangers got some sleep last night," declared L. P. Neff, supervisor of the Shawnee National Forest. He was speaking of the work the rangers have been doing the past several weeks thwarting forest fires. The condition in the forest has been extremely conducive to fires, but the snow put a temporary stop to the hazard.

"The snow most definitely has eliminated the threat for the time being, and the threat will be over, of course, as long as the present condition lasts," he stated. "And, if we have some cold weather, it could last a long time."

Neff estimated that the six-inch snowfall was equal to approximately one-half inch of rainfall.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dulles Not Alone Responsible For Diplomatic Boo-Boos; Knowledge Of How He Works
And Some Of His Advisers
Helps In Understanding Secretary's Public Utterances; Dulles Frequently Operates State
Dept. "Out Of His Hat."

(Editor's Note: Today John
Foster Dulles gets the Brass Ring, good for one free ride, though a rough one, on the Washington Merry-go-round.)

WASHINGTON.—To understand how John Foster Dulles can be the author of "How To Make Enemies and Alienate Allies," as now generally conceded, you have to understand how he works and some of the men around him.

The man immediately around him who has had more to do with the recent Dulles boo-boos than anyone else is Carl McCordle, assistant secretary of state in charge of public relations.

Mr. McCordle is a St. Bernard type of individual with the likable qualities of that dog plus its ability to knock over furniture and muddy up the front carpet. He operates on the general policy of "give a little here," then "give a little there" in an effort to keep every newspaper happy. The result: nobody is happy.

Thus when McCordle slipped the New York Times one of the great scoops in recent State Department history, the full text of the Yalta Conference papers, he later felt he had to do a favor for Life Magazine by giving an exclusive interview to Jim Shepley, its Washington Bureau chief.

FATHER AND SON

McCordle met Foster Dulles
when he was working for the Philadelphia Bulletin, and Foster was making a world tour during the Truman administration. On these long, sometimes lonesome hops from Singapore to Bandung, Calcutta to Cairo there developed a sort of father-and-son relationship between the two men. Dulles' relations with his own children have not been too happy; so when he became secretary of state Carl McCordle was wrapped close to the Dulles bosom as adviser on press and public relations.

Sole responsibility for the Dulles boo-boos should not be placed at the doorstep of Carl McCordle, however. There are at least two other important factors:

No. 1 is the Dulles habit of operating his office out of his own hat.
No. 2 is John Foster Dulles himself, plus his overindulgent aptitude for making boo-boos, even before he got into the State Department.

That record is too long to detail here. But when a man supposedly skilled in foreign affairs, whose grandfather was secretary of state and whose uncle was secretary of state, can predict no war with the Nazis at a time when Hitler was already engulfing part of Europe, then you can't really expect much long-range planning on other subjects.

HITLER IS NO PROBLEM

This particular Dulles statement was made in March 1939 after Hitler had already swallowed Austria and Czechoslovakia and obviously had his eyes on the rest of Europe.

"There is no reason to believe that any totalitarian states, separately or collectively, would attempt to attack the United States or could do so successfully," said Mr. Dulles. "Only hysteria entertains the idea that Germany, Italy or Japan contemplates war upon us."

A quick look at John Foster's public utterances shows that he wandered all over the lot on various questions long before Carl McCordle came into his life. There was another article in Life Magazine, for instance, June 3, 1946 in which Mr. Dulles described the Russians: "In some matters the Soviet system is tolerant
... men have considerable freedom to disagree and argue."

And there have been a whole slew of conflicting statements about Korea and Indo-China.

"President Truman's decision that the U. S. should go to the defense of the Korean Republic was courageous, righteous and in the national interest," said Mr. Dulles, again writing in Life June 12, 1952.

But one month later he wrote
into the Republican national platform an accusation that Truman
"plunged us into war in Korea without the consent of our citizens."

So Carl McCordle can't be blamed for the Dulles avidity for statement-making on every subject, and on all sides of every subject.

However, it's the job of a good press-relations officer to prevent his chief from making apple-cartupsetting statements. This is also the job of other executives around him.

OUT OF DULLES' HAT

And here enters the other characteristic in Foster's life which makes him one of the most mercurial secretaries of state we have ever had.

Dulles operates his office out of his own hat. Wherever his brief case is, that's his office. And there the policy of the State Department and the U. S. government is frequently made.

It makes no matter how many highly paid experts the State Department has to advise on India, Portugal, Indo-China — they are usually not called in. When Dulles issued his now famed boo-boo on Portuguese Goa which so offended

Billy Graham Tours Riot-Torn Area in Bombay

the Indians, not one expert regarding the area involved knew he was going to make it.

Past secretaries of state met almost every day with their top experts. They had a team. It not only reviewed the current problems of the world, but planned ahead. Weeks and weeks of study were given to policy.

For the past three years that system has virtually gone up in smoke. One reason is the temperamental Dulles tendency to shoot statements from the hip without consulting advisers. Another is the fact that he is seldom in Washington.

The public has been given the impression that John Foster Dulles is a great secretary of state because he is constantly bustling off to this part of the world or that. However, activity is not necessarily the hallmark of statesmanship, and the business executive who spends his time on the road as a traveling salesman eventually finds his business at home going to pot. So he hires traveling salesmen and stays at home to do the planning.

Dulles might well use his own traveling salesmen—the long list of reasonably able ambassadors we have stationed all over the world. As one of his law partners once said, after Dulles had left Sullivan and Cromwell to come to the State Department:

"Why doesn't Foster sit down for a moment and just think?"

him.

Patrolmen Kenneth Groff and Summerfield pleaded guilty in ing in the wrong traffic lane and paid a fine of $14.

Graham, quoted in a Bombay newspaper, said he had "seen lots of violence" during his tour of the troubled city but "I also saw your exotic bazaars, talked with people on the streets, saw a snake and mongoose fight and generally had a fine time."

Asked about his reaction to the violence, he replied, "the human heart is the same all over the world. The only difference is in the color of our skins. I was in the last war and we, too, have disturbances in America."

The riots were touched off by the government's decision to split Bombay province into Maharashtra and Gujarat "linguistic areas" and a separate district embracing the city of Bombay.

Heavy Snowfall Turns Southern Illinois Areas Into a Winter Wonderland

MARION, Ill. (AP)—A heavy snowfall Wednesday night turned southern Illinois into a winter wonderland of snow-covered buildings, fields, trees and highways.

The first snowfall of the winter in the southern counties ranged from three to seven inches.

The Cairo weather station said light snow flurries were expected to continue today but that the snow would not be heavy.

State police and the highway department said all roads were hazardous in the southern end of the state.

The snow ranged from 3 inches at Red Bud to 7 inches at Anna.

Other depths reported were 5 inches at Effingham, Cairo, Grand Chain, Golconda, Marion, Mount Carmel and Du Quoin, and 6 1/2 inches at Cape Girardeau, Mo. The Cairo weather station said the Ohio River Valley had 4 to 5 inches of snow from Louisville, Ky., to Cairo.

Effingham state police headquarters reported at 7:30 a. m. that it was still snowing "rather heavy" there.

The Carbondale district highway office said that at 7:30 all southern Illinois roads were snow-covered but passable. Snow plow crews worked all night to clear the roads, then started sanding hills, curves and bridges.

The Cairo weather station said the snow was loaded with moisture but that it would melt down to about 1 of an inch of water.

The moisture will be welcomed by southern Illinois farmers whose winter wheat crops have been suffering from a shortage of rainfall.

State police headquarters at Du Quoin said it had received no accident reports after 9 p. m. Wednesday and no fatal reports at all despite hazardous driving conditions.

District 10 state police headquarters at Effingham said it had received no accident reports at all.

The snow was heaviest in the southern part of the state.

The Springfield Weather Bureau reported a maximum depth for central Illinois of 3 inches at Springfield and Vandalia. Other depths reported were 1 inch at Rockford, Moline, Bradford and Decatur; 2 inches at Quincy; and just a trace of snow at Chicago and Peoria.

It is becoming possible to remove overburden in surface mining of bituminous coal to depths approach 100 feet, a reflection of the great strides in mechanical equipment improvement.

Truman Defends Sending Marshall To China in '45-46

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today that Gen. George C. Marshall's mission to achieve unity and peace in China failed because the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek "did not command the respect and support of the Chinese people."

Mr. Truman defended his action in dispatching Marshall to China in 1945-46 in an installment of his memoirs published today by Life magazine.

The former president said there was no doubt in his mind that if Chiang had taken Marshall's advice and had been "only a little more conciliatory" an understanding could have been reached that would have saved the China mainland from Communist control.

"I am not one to believe in the value of hindsight," Mr. Truman said. "Whether or not I was right in sending General Marshall to China does not depend on what some think they know today. It depends only on what we were able to know in 1945."

At that time, he said, through the efforts of Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, the Nationalist and Communist Chinese had signed an agreement to work toward national unity. From Hurley's report and the opinion of other experts, Mr. Truman said, he was "led to believe" China could be unified under the agreement.

For Kau, cold had been a word in the missionaries' books, like snow, or iceberg. He had believed that he had understood it when he had encountered a great wind of storm force upon the sea and he had been chill and wet. But as the Obis proceeded on her course towards Cape Horn he found that he was wrong.

The ancient stories of his people telling of the voyages to Hawaii recited many dangers, but nowhere did they speak of cold. Then Naish gave him heavy clothing, woolen trousers and a sweater, boots, a knit cap, a pea jacket. He delighted in them as a gift from his friend, and because they were new and strange, quickly learned to dislike their bulky weight.

He felt stifled wearing them and took them off as much as possible. The boots galled his feet; he was far nappier barefoot. During the hours of sunlight, he followed it around the ship, basking in the warmth, turning his body to the rays and watching it with apprehension when it was masked by cloud. But with sunset he had to put the clothing back on in numb dejection while his hands shook, his teeth chattered, his body stooped as if from the effects of a terrific blow.

But there was solace for him in the fact that the others in the crew despised their Northern birth also hated the cold. "The whole shebang's been too long in the sun," Naish told him. "Our blood's been too long in the sun. We're accustomed to this, though."

"How much?" Kauli said.

"Not too much, in honesty," Naish said. "You'll just have to do it."

The night watches were the worst. Alone then in the permission huddle, in the galley, the man who had been so helped by his steering that he had no time for conversation, Kauli miserably stalked the quarter deck. He recalled his people's mythology and was convinced that somehow he had been condemned to the ultimate torture. This was Rua, the abyss of the bottom of the world, the furthest waves of the underworld. He wasn't fated to meet Miru. No, he didn't have such luck. Miru, the ogress, burned her victims in an oven. His fate, of course, was to freeze to death.

When his watch was finished he went into the galley. Tomorrow, who was cooking for the simple reason that he was fatter than the others, had a pan of chicken and pork scraps on the back of the stove. Kauli ate, ate some more, drank another mug of tea, and his body radiated, he was marvelously alive.

Down in the main cabin while he sat at the table and wrote up his log, sleep began to come in over him. He walked along the passageway to his own cabin and he did nothing but take off his pea jacket, cap and boots before he lowered down into the bunk and pulled the blankets over him. They were cozy and comfortable for their harshness. But they were warm.

 On Rutua under the sun there'd never been any sleep like this.

Due to the fact that they were so shortanded a feeling of close, almost brotherly kinship grew among the men. At Naish's order, the 70 sailors of the crew lived off the quarters that had formerly belonged to the petty officers, and they ate in turn at the main cabin table. Watches were shortened without any formal agreement, and on particularly rough nights men volunteered to relieve the wheel and the lookout. Clothing was shared, and tobacco, pipes. Knives were

But beneath his surface geniality, Kaul suspected that Bothwick had dislike of him. The Gloucester man could not give himself as free rein as he wished in the discipline. He was by nature reserved, remote. When he relieved Kaul on the quarter deck he was curt. At meals in the main cabin he was polite but not friendly. "If you or Naish was on deck, to Larned. He doesn't consider you to be much

Then in the week that they squared away on their Easting and began to run down the latitude of the Cape Horn passage they were driven by a succession of tremendous storms and Bothwick, weary to the point of hysteria, lost his patience and spoke out openly to

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Douglas Sweat who passed away three years ago, Jan. 20, 1953:
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when.
To clasp his hand in the better
land,
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren. *171-1

Wright Ordered To Deliver Bonds To Toll Road Group

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — Illinois' 415-million-dollar toll road bond issue remained up in the air today after a Supreme Court decision ordering Treasurer Warren E. Wright to deliver the bonds to the Toll Highway Commission.

The attorney general's office said the decision would have to be studied before it could decide whether the way was finally cleared for completing the bond issue.

Wright's office, however, claimed the decision was a "complete victory" for him in his fight to avoid taking responsibility for the bond issue by delivering the bonds to the underwriters.

The Supreme Court Wednesday ordered Wright to deliver the bonds to the Toll Highway Commission "if the same are in his actual possession."

But the court did not order Wright to deliver the bonds to the syndicate of 564 underwriters as petitioned by Atty. Gen. Latham Castle on behalf of the Toll Highway Commission.

Wright said he did not have any bonds in his possession, hence was not ordered by the court to do anything.

The contract deadline for delivery of the bonds to the underwriters is Jan. 23. The Toll Highway Commission had said failure to meet this deadline would mean additional thousands of dollars would have to be spent in drawing up a new bond contract and new engineering and traffic studies.

The underwriters had refused to take the bonds while the lower court suits threatened the bond issue.

North Carolina Upsets Rival N. C. State 73-69

By United Press

North Carolina's stirring upset of bitter rival North Carolina State, the nation's No. 3 team, stole the show from triumphant Dayton and Louisville today as all three bid to move higher in the national basketball ratings.

North Carolina, ranked 11th nationally, was all steamed up last night to avenge an 82-60 shellacking by State just 11 days earlier in the final round of the Dixie Classic Tournament.

And the Tar Heels got their revenge in a pulse-pounding, 73-69 game that was not settled until the final eight seconds of play. A "possession" game and a zone defense were the keys in the victory that kept North Carolina in first place in the blazing Atlantic Coast Conference race.

Matches San Francisco
Dayton, the nation's No. 2 team, ran its perfect record to 13-0—matching that of national leader San Francisco—by drubbing Villanova, 71-50. And 10th-ranked Louisville rolled to an eye-catching 85-75 victory over Memphis State to set its record at 14-1.

In other leading games: Columbia tied idle Princeton for the Ivy League lead by trouncing Yale, 80-54; La Salle rallied to beat Pennsylvania, 64-52, despite 25 points by Penn's Joe Sturgis; six-six Lee Collins sank 28 points and grabbed 25 rebounds to lead South Carolina in a 94-79 rout of arch-rival Clemson; West Virginia routed Pittsburgh, 84-70; St. Bonaventure nipped Siena, 62-61; 11th-ranked Oklahoma City edged Seattle, 74-70, at Seattle to avenge an upset last night; 20th-ranked St. Louis routed DePaul, 89-71; Wichita ripped Drake, 85-76, in the Missouri Valley Conference; and New Mexico A&M downed New Mexico, 58-51.

Strikes Idle Workers in 3 Illinois Cities

By United Press

Strikes idled workers in three Illinois cities today and work stoppages were threatened in three other cities.

A bus strike in Decatur hampered transportation and two more walkouts threatened to do the same for Elgin and Aurora. Two plants were silent at Joliet and East Moline, and another was due to close Friday in Springfield. The bus company strike in Decatur moved into its third day as residents attempted to travel by car pools, hitchhiking or plain walking. Neither the company nor the union indicated when talks would reopen.

A federal mediator will meet with company and union officials Friday in St. Charles in an effort to avert similar strikes in Aurora and Elgin. Service between the two cities also would be affected.

Some 2,100 workers at the Sangamo Electric Co. in Springfield have voted to quit work Friday if union and company negotiators fail to agree on a pay boost.

About 3,000 AFL-CIO machinists were off their jobs in Joliet for the third day in a contract dispute with the Caterpillar Tractor Co. Pickets circled the gates of two of four Deere & Co. plants in the Quad-Cities where 2,650 workers were called out by the United Auto Workers.

The Deere Harvester plant in East Moline was idled Monday and the spreader works, also in East Moline, was struck Wednesday.

HTHS Students To Participate in Speech Festival

Several students from the speech department at the Harrisburg Township high school will be among high school orators from southern Illinois who will gather on the Southern Illinois university campus Saturday, Jan. 21, for the annual High School Speech Festival.

For the first time the festival will be devoted to day-long competition in all events except debate. The first annual high school debate tournament will be held there Saturday, Jan. 28.

Contestants will vie for festival prizes in extemporaneous speaking, play reading, original oratory, original monologue and verse readings. All sessions will be conducted at University School.

Walter Murrish, assistant professor of Speech at SIU who is coordinating the event, said "superior" and "excellent" rating certificates will be awarded at the closing assembly Saturday afternoon. Murrish said the entry list includes students from 14 schools, the biggest registration in the festival's history.

Those from Harrisburg who will attend are Pat Hodson, Marcia Pierson, Peggy Strader, Janice Gidcomb, Jane Davis, Judy Farar, Pat Morgan, Patsy Foster and Carol Lightfoot.

Robin Freeman Continues in Scoring Lead

CHICAGO (U.P.) — League-leading Illinois and last-place Northwestern each boasted two of the Big Ten's top 10 scorers this week, while Ohio State's Robin Freeman continued to lead the pack by a wide margin.

Freeman, hitting the net on .437 per cent of his field goal attempts and on .862 per cent of his free throws, was averaging 33 points a game compared to 24.5 for runner-up Julius McCoy of Michigan State. Jerry Dommeyer of Minnesota, second a week ago, was third after three games with a 23.5 average and Dick Mast of Northwestern was fourth with 23.3.

The other Northwestern representative was Glen Lose, in a 10th place tie with Bill Seaberg of Iowa with an 18-point-per-game mark. Northwestern has not won a conference game and has defeated only Dartmouth during the entire season.

Illinois, on the other hand, is unbeaten in conference play and has lost only once all season. The Illini representatives in the scoring leaders were Billy Ridley with a 20.7 average and George BonSalle with 20.2.

The only other player averaging over 20 points per game was Wisconsin's Dick Miller with a 21.8 average. Miller last week set a new consecutive free throw record at 29 when he dropped his 25th straight this season against Ohio State. He made his last four in the last game last year. The old record was 28 set by Bill Tosheff of Indiana in 1951.

Illinois continued as the top offensive club in the league with an average of over 89 points per game.

Sandy Saddler Scores TKO While Fans Jeer

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.) — Sandy Saddler, who never will receive a good sportsmanship award, strutted into his seventh year as the world featherweight champion today while irate fans jeered in vain. The little Pier Six brawler from New York City defended his crown Wednesday night by scoring a technical knockout over Flash Elorde of the Philippines when the contest was halted in the 13th round because of the islander's bleeding left eye.

As soon as the bout was over the Cow Palace switchboard was flooded by long distance telephone calls from television fans protesting the champ's tactics.

The bout, which started as a fairly slow affair, was a bloody rhubarb from the fifth round on. Elorde, who spent a good part of the night trying to keep his face away from Saddler's grinding head, began to bleed from the mouth in that heat.

Elorde, fighting with typical Filipino courage began to look his best after he complained in the fourth and sixth rounds about being battered and held.

After registering his second protest, Elorde sailed into the champion with a barrage of lefts and rights that sent Saddler desperately retreating to the ropes. Six hard lefts caught Saddler during this assault.

Then in the ninth he turned Saddler's nose into a fountain with a series of lefts and rights. But the champ's seconds plugged this at the bell and Elorde began to fade after that.

But in between these attacks, Saddler kept rolling along like Ol' Man River while shoving his head into Elorde's face. He also scored with looping shots to the face and body. He piled up points with sharp rights to the face. Two of them rocked the challenger in the fifth and Saddler crashed another one home just before the seventh ended.

Britain Pledges To Oppose Middle East Arms Race

LONDON (U.P.) — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's government said today that Britain has tried and will continue to try "to prevent an arms race in the Middle East."

The pledge was contained in a white paper issued on the question of the export of surplus war materials.

The white paper was issued following a storm of criticism on the recent shipment of surplus tanks and armored cars to Egypt. Most of the material originally was exported to Belgium and reshipped from there to Cairo.

Galatia, Vienna Defeat Equality, Pope County in Tourney Play

Play in Semifinals Tonight at Ridgway; Shawneetown, Cave-in-Rock in First Tilt

Galatia and Vienna advanced into the semifinals of the Greater Egyptian conference basketball tournament by beating Equality and Pope County Wednesday night.

Wednesday's action completed first round play of the tournament, being staged at Ridgway, with semifinal competition listed for this evening. Championship games are scheduled for Friday.

Galatia rallied in the final frame to gain a victory over Equality, 63-59, and Vienna had a big second half to defeat Pope County, 72-57.

Semifinal action starts tonight at 7 o'clock with Shawneetown, defending champion, facing Cave-in-Rock. Following this game Galatia and Vienna play for a berth in the championship game.

Equality pushed Galatia all the way last night, leading at the end of each of the first three quarters—18-15, 31-28 and 47-42. Then Galatia came through in the fourth frame to gain the verdict. The winners, playing without their high scoring center, John Tate, were paced by McFarland's 15 points. Marshall Glover of Equality topped the game's point makers with 18.

In the second game of the session Pope County faltered badly in the last two quarters after holding a lead during the opening half. At the end of the first quarter Pope Co. led 15-6 and was still on top at halftime, 27-25. In the final half Vienna ran up 47 points and held Pope to 30.

Walters of Vienna was the game's high scorer with 19. Walker paced Pope with 15.

Illinois Highway Toll in 1956 Highest Since 1941

SPRINGFIELD — The 1956 Illinois highway death toll was the highest since 1941 and 7 per cent higher than in 1954, the State Public Works and Buildings Department reported today.

Traffic fatalities totaled 2,195 persons for the year, with a 20 per cent fatality rate increase in the last three months.

There were 248 deaths in December, up 23 per cent from the 202 deaths in December, 1954.

The Daily Register 25c a week directed by James Williams of Harrisburg and Mrs. Gill Montgomery of Eldorado, will meet at 6:30 p. m. to practice singing for the evening service.

FOR SAFETY—State law requires drivers approaching from either direction to stop when a school bus is discharging or receiving passengers. It is important!

Gardner Points to Law Regarding Stopping For School Buses and Proper Markings

C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, today pointed out the law in relations to motorists halting for stopped school buses and the marking of the buses so that motorists can easily identify one on the highway.

Gardner reported the law in relation to these points in the Illinois Revised Statutes and quotes them as follows:

"Sec. 29-12. (a) The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of a business or residence district upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle before reaching such school bus when there is in operation on said school bus a visual signal as specified in Section 113.01 of 'An Act in relation to the regulation of traffic', and said driver shall not proceed until such school bus resumes motion or is signaled by the school bus driver to proceed or the visual signals are no longer actuated."

(b) "Every bus used for the transportation of school children shall bear upon the front and rear thereof plainly visible signs containing the words 'SCHOOL BUS' in letters not less than 8 inches in height, and in addition shall be equipped with visual signals meeting the requirements of Section 113.01 of 'An Act in relation to the regulation of traffic', which shall be actuated by the driver of said school bus whenever, but only whenever, such vehicle is stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children."

(c) "The driver of a vehicle upon a highway which the roadways for traffic moving in opposite directions are separated by a strip of ground which is not surfaced or suitable for vehicular traffic need not stop his vehicle upon meeting or passing a school bus which is on the opposite roadway; and need not stop his vehicle when driving upon a controlled access highway when a school bus is stopped in a load zone adjacent to the surfaced or improved part of the controlled access highway where pedestrians are not permitted to cross such controlled access highway."

Gardner also noted changes in the definition of a school bus as found respectively in identical amendments to "An Act in relation to the regulations of traffic," Section 2 (e), "The School Code," Section 29-10 and "Drivers License Act," Section 3 (d):

"(e) School bus. Every motor vehicle of the second division operated by or for a public or governmental agency or by or for a private or religious organization solely for the transportation of pupils in connection with any school activity."

"Sec. 113.01. Special Lighting Equipment on School Buses. Every bus used for the transportation of school children to and from school, in addition to any other equipment and distinctive markings required by this Act, shall be equipped with signal lamps mounted as high and as widely spaced laterally as practicable, which shall be capable of displaying to the front two alternately flashing yellow lights located at the same level, and to the rear two alternately flashing red lights located at the same level, and these lights shall have the sufficient intensity to be visible at 500 feet in normal sunlight."

Coal Production Up in December; Accidents Low

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois coal production in December, 1955, topped five million tons for the first time in three years, and mine accidents hit an all-time low for the year, the State Mines and Minerals Department reported today.

The December production of 5,075,743 tons brought total 1955 output to 45,272,002 tons. However, Ben H. Schull, mines and minerals director, said this was a provisional figure and final tonnage is expected to be about 500,000 tons higher.

The 1954 production totaled 40,228,174 tons.

The December production was 577,353 tons over December, 1954, and January, 1952, was the last month when production had hit 5,000,000 tons.

December production was reported by 152 mines in 35 counties. The mines employed 12,874 miners, compared with 11,465 men working in November.

Williams county was the top producer in December with 711,331 tons, followed by Fulton and Christian counties.

Mine accidents killed 18 persons in 1955 and caused 1,007 injuries, lowest totals since record-keeping started in 1882.

One of the deaths and 115 injuries were reported in December.

Saline county produced 282,375 tons during December 1955 compared to 215,169 tons in November 1955 and 216,290 tons in December 1954. During December 10 mines were working, employing 830 men, compared to six mines reporting in December 1954.

HAS PART IN STAGE PRODUCTION—Dan C. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Brown of Harrisburg, is appearing in the romantic comedy, "The Rainmaker," a stage production which is currently showing at the Community Playhouse in Nashville, Tenn. Dan, a pre-law student at Vanderbilt university in Tennessee, recently from Columbia Military Academy, appeared earlier this season in the Nashville Children's Theatre presentation of "Hansel and Gretel." He has won honors in dramatic declamation, including a state of Illinois speech contest. An article in a Nashville newspaper stated that "In the part of the younger brother, Jim Curry, Dan C. Brown was delightful, full of bright sayings at dumb times, but always exuberantly, brashly young." Mr. and Mrs. Brown returned Sunday night from Nashville where they attended the production which will continue through Jan. 21.

Reveal Stratton Consulted White House Advisers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Gov. William G. Stratton consulted with top White House advisers before entering President Eisenhower's name in the Illinois presidential preference primary, it was revealed today.

William W. Downey, Stratton's administrative assistant, said the governor conferred in advance with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. and former White House appointment secretary Tom Stephens. It was also reported that Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall got advance warning of Stratton's plans.

Stratton entered the President's name in the April 10 primary two days ago. A candidate's consent is not required in the Illinois primary, but the President can ask that his name be withdrawn. The Republican governor's only comment was "I definitely would not take a step to embarrass the President."

Educational Ad Campaign by Stock Exchange

The New York Stock Exchange will spend $600,000 in the first six months of 1956 on its educational advertising campaign, using a new visual and copy approach, G. Keith Funston, president, announced today.

The Exchange's advertising expenditures for the full year 1955 amounted to $975,000.

"The theme of our 1956 advertising," Mr. Funston said, "will continue to be: 'Own Your Share of American Business.' Our educational objective is to inform people everywhere about their opportunity to participate in voting ownership of the great corporations which have made so vital a contribution to the growth and development of this country."

"In a bright and imaginative style our 1956 advertising will stress human situations and informality by the use of quizzes for the reader, dialogue, questions-and-answers."

"Within this new format, our advertising will continue to give basic information about investing in stocks and bonds and to explain the Exchange market. The ads invite the public to call on member firms of the New York Stock Exchange for friendly help and informed advice on investing."

Also, as in the past, he added, the Exchange's advertising this year will emphasize that investors, and prospective investors, should:

1. Recognize the risk involved in owning common stocks;

2. Have a reserve for emergencies before buying common shares.

3. Get good advice;

4. Get the facts before investing.

Mr. Funston said that the main targets for the Stock Exchange's advertising in 1956 will be:

1. The 2,000,000 non-shareowning families with annual incomes of $5,000 and over who, according to last year's studies, have considered the purchase of stocks.

2. The 5,500,000 non-shareowning individuals in the executive and professional group — 4 out of 5 of whom own no listed securities.

3. The broad mass market of 12,000,000 non-shareowning families with annual incomes of $5,000 and over.

Carbondale Man Placed On Probation for Fraudulent Claims

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — A Carbondale track worker today was placed on probation for a period of four years by Federal Judge Fred L. Wham. The worker had pled guilty on Jan. 3 to obtaining $1,053 from the Railroad Retirement Board by making fraudulent claims for unemployment benefits. The court warned him that his parole would be revoked unless he paid back the money.

According to Courtney G. Clower, district manager of the Railroad Retirement Board, the worker claimed to be unemployed for 44 consecutive weeks during which time he was regularly employed by a Carbondale service station.

Mr. Clower explained that any person fraudulently claiming benefits under the U. S. Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act may be subject to one year in jail, or a fine of $10,000 or both.
